Training and assessment support services:

Central Outback Training recognises that not all people learn in the same manner, and that with an amount of “reasonable adjustment” learners who may not learn best with traditional learning and assessment methods will still achieve good results.

Reasonable adjustment may be offered to learners with a disability or learning difficulty according to the nature of the disability or difficulty. Reasonable adjustments are made to ensure that the learner is not presented with artificial barriers to demonstrating achievement in the program of study. Reasonable adjustments may include the use of adaptive technology, educational support and alternative methods of assessment such as oral assessment.
